Re: CS Docket No. 98-120; MB Docket No. 03-15

Dear Ms. Dortch:

On October 29, 2004, the National Association of Broadcasters, the Association for Maximum Service Television, the ABC, CBS, Fox and NBC television network affiliates associations, the ABC Television Network, ABC's owned and operated stations and 17 other television station groups filed a letter with the Commission laying out a broadcast industry plan ("Industry Plan") for bringing the DTV transition to a timely and successful conclusion without disenfranchising millions of viewers or depriving consumers of the benefits digital television is intended to provide to the public. Since that time, numerous other broadcast television station owners have registered their strong support for the Industry Plan. By this letter, Gray Television, Inc., the licensee of thirty television stations serving markets ranked in size from 61 to 187, expresses its strong support for the Industry Plan. Gray urges the Commission to adopt this Plan and to reject any plan that would allow cable operators or DBS providers to deny their subscribers the full benefits of digital service – including HDTV and multicast services – that broadcasters provide for free, over-the-air.

Sincerely,

Robert A. Beizer
